

Photos: JSI, HKI

Family Planning fosters peace

Health is not homogenous. There is a whole range of cultural, religious, class-based and sexual considerations that challenge every program.

Our services are managed and owned by members of the very community who strive to be healthy. This way, health becomes part of the parcel of aspirations or tools to build on dreams. In conflict areas, health is a way to peace.

